

People and animals should not be exposed to additional RF radiation from "smart meters" when better technological options are available. Biological studies need to be taken into consideration. Previous studies have mainly focused on thermal effects. Many legitimate studies have shown that RF radiation causes cancer and many other problems. It affects everyone, but affects electro-sensitive people and children even more. We are exposed to enough radiation as it is and a safe level cannot be determined. Please make our health a priority and change the RF standards so that we have more protection from RF radiation.

Thank you!

Marcia Hoodwin